

MEG JOHANNESSEN CV

PERSONAL STATEMENT

A creative and intelligent landscape architecture student with an excellent eye for visual design and an unwavering passion for the arts. Hoping to gain relevant experience through placement work; will work well as part of a team and thrive on new challenges. Working as a teaching assistant in a gardening class for Crisis has increased awareness of the social impact of design, highlighting the importance of designing for people, as well as providing practical experience in the garden. Particularly interested in interdisciplinary design and exploring its potential, with fashion and graphic design being major influences. Passionate about environmental issues and animal rights, the Student Voice for Animal Rights has provided a platform for discussion and an opportunity to raise awareness. Hopes to ensure all future work is environmentally conscious and gives back to our planet.
